I think the proposed microsoft antitrust settlement is a joke. I don't see any effective remedy in it.

Microsoft disregarded the spirit of the earlier DOJ agreement, they showed their disregard for the Court in the antitrust trial, and with this proposed agreement they will be able to escape being held accountable for continuing to kill developing technology and competitive companies. You can still see their fundamental behavior in their approach to Windows XP and Passport in spite of their loss in Court.

It is a shame for the Justice Department to have won the battle but now under a new administration throw away that victory.

Sincerely,
